Use together for a well-rounded picture of employment needs

The SDS, WVI, and WSA identify what is important to job seekers. Knowing who they are, what they want, and what they need from a job helps clients find the right career fit.

- Work personality and interests—the SDS gauges aspirations, activities, competencies, and level of interest in different occupations.
- Work needs—the WVI identifies what employees need in a job, such as independence, support, or recognition.

- Working style—the WSA evaluates work preferences and approaches such as initiative, cooperation, and innovation.
